The 37-Bodhisattva Practices composed by the 14th century monk Ngulchu Thogme Zangpo, describes the everyday attitude and behavior of the body, speech, and mind that trains, purifies and transforms an aspirant while on the path to be a bodhisattva.

The Bodhisattva Vow enables an aspirant to commit to the lifestyle of a holy being whose devotion is to the realization of the absolute wisdom, true nature mind and to the aspiration for liberation of phenomenal dualistic nature for oneself and all beings, nurtured by the compassion for the sake of others.
